RETA

Architecture in Every Detail. Precision in Every Finish.

THE RETA EXPERIENCE

Where Form Commands Function

The Reta collection is a study in architectural restraint — each fitting defined by its sharp rectilinear geometry, flat-blade lever, and precision-machined body. Where curves yield to corners, and softness gives way to structure.

Every line is intentional. The square escutcheon plate, the angular spout, the blade handle that sits perfectly parallel to the wall — these are not ornamental choices but the result of an obsessive commitment to form as function.

Available in six surface treatments — from the industrial authority of Gun Metal to the warm opulence of Brushed Gold — each finish transforms the same architecture into a new character.

Uncompromising. Architectural. Unmistakably Viera.

SHOWER SYSTEMS

Precision. Delivered.

The Reta concealed valve sits flush and sovereign against tile or stone — its square escutcheon and blade lever the geometry of control. Above, the wall-mounted rain head extends with architectural authority, releasing a curtain of water that transforms every shower into a space of deliberate, unhurried calm.

RAIN HEAD SYSTEMS

Where Water Becomes Ritual

Wall-mounted with architectural precision, the Reta rain head extends from the wall on a square-section arm — its flat panel face delivering a broad, even cascade. Every drop deliberate. Every moment, transformed.
